Agenda Overview

Over the past two years the Australian local government workforce has had to evolve rapidly. A global pandemic, shifting workforce demographic and rapid digital change have completely reshaped the expectations of both council employees and their community.

As career trajectories and traditional employment structures change, local councils need to adapt if they are to recruit and retain the right talent. Embracing and investing in technology to increase workplace productivity will help enable flexibility and sustainability to ensure ongoing success.

Public Sector Network's Modernising the Local Government Workplace Virtual Event will equip attendees with ideas and strategies on how to increase organisational agility, streamline processes and improve culture to create a contemporary workplace.
